

OUR AUTHORS

Kirsti Jõesalu is researcher at the Institute of Cultural Research and Arts, University of Tartu, Estonia. She is currently working on her PhD thesis on remembering 'mature socialism'. Her main fields of research are cultural and political memory of socialism, study of socialist everyday life and oral history. She has published on remembering socialism in several journals.

kirsti.joesalu@ut.ee

Raili Nugin is researcher at Tallinn University, Estonia. She defended her PhD in 2011, exploring the coming of age of the 1970s cohort in Estonia. Her main fields of research are transition to adulthood and construction of generations. She has published on these topics in several journals.

nugin@tlu.ee

Kristin Kuutma is Professor of Cultural Research at the University of Tartu, Estonia. Her research and teaching focuses on cultural theory, cultural history and anthropology, ethnographic studies and knowledge production, critical studies of cultural heritage and representation. She is Head of the UT programme of the Graduate School of Culture Studies and Arts.

kristin.kuutma@ut.ee

Elo-Hanna Seljamaa is researcher at the Department of Estonian and Comparative Folklore at the University of Tartu and is completing her doctoral studies at the Ohio State University, Columbus. Her current research interests include holidays, nationalism, politics of memory and commemoration, integration and minority policies.

elo-hanna.seljamaa@ut.ee

Ergo-Hart Västriik is senior lecturer at the Department of Estonian and Comparative Folklore, University of Tartu, Estonia. His fields of interest include folk religion, history of representation and museum studies. He has carried out fieldwork among Finnic minority groups in northwest Russia and wrote his PhD thesis on textual representation of Votians' and Izhorians' religion in historical sources.

ergo-hart.vastrik@ut.ee

Ester Võsu is researcher of ethnology at the Institute for Cultural Research and Fine Arts, University of Tartu, Estonia. She is completing her PhD dissertation on non-agricultural rural entrepreneurship in present-day Estonia, focusing on the performance perspective. Her research interests include performance studies, rural entrepreneurship and tourism, uses of heritage, and food culture in Estonia.

ester.vosu@ut.ee

Helen Sooväli-Sepping is senior researcher of cultural geography at the Estonian Institute of Humanities, Tallinn University, Estonia. Her main research interests include landscape and heritage perception and management, and landscape transformation. She is currently co-editing a book “Ruptured Landscapes: Landscape, Identity and Social Change”, Springer.

helen.soovali@tlu.ee

Maarja Kaaristo is researcher at the Department of Ethnology, University of Tartu, Estonia. Her main research interests include tourism, rural identities, history of Estonian ethnology and the subject of domesticated animals. She is a member of the editorial board of the series Bibliotheca Anthropologica of TLU Press.

maarja.kaaristo@ut.ee

Risto Järv is Head of the Estonian Folklore Archives of the Estonian Literary Museum and Associate Professor of the Department of Estonian and Comparative Folklore, University of Tartu, Estonia. His main research areas are folktale theory, contemporary storytelling, folklore and tourism.

risto@folklore.ee

Eva Toulouze is a teacher of Finno-Ugric languages and researcher at the Institute of Oriental Languages and Cultures (INALCO – Paris) and a researcher at the Department of Ethnology, University of Tartu, Estonia. Her main fields of interest are the cultures of Russia’s Finno-Ugric peoples, the emergence of a written culture in Finno-Ugric areas, and Forest Nenets’ culture.

evatoulouze@gmail.com

Liivo Niglas is research fellow at the Department of Ethnology, University of Tartu, Estonia. His main research areas are visual representation, adaptation and worldview of the Arctic peoples (predominantly, the Tundra and Forest Nenets).

liivon@gmail.com

Art Leete is Professor of Ethnology at the University of Tartu, Estonia. His main research areas include religious and social change among the Finno-Ugric peoples of Russia (the Komi, Khanty, Mansi and Nenets).

art.leete@ut.ee

Piret Koosa is researcher-curator at the Estonian National Museum. Her main research areas are related to Protestant growth among the Komi people in Russia.

piret.koosa@gmail.com

Toomas Gross is lecturer at the Department of Social and Cultural Anthropology, University of Helsinki, and senior research fellow at the Department of Ethnology, University of Tartu. He has done fieldwork in the Zapotec villages of Southern Mexico and his research is primarily concerned with religious change, conversion, customary law, and recently also healing.

toomas.gross@helsinki.fi